Dear Recruiter:

I am submitting my candidature for a Frontend web developer at your Company. My passion is to work with extremely talented people and collaborate to make products that would make an immediate impact. I enjoy creating beautiful user interfaces with code and hack things up for any immediate problems or projects, Applying to your Company would expand my ability to translate real problem into viable solutions.

Most of my personal projects always come from a problem I want to solve, and it is by solving that problem that I grow and develop my coding abilities. I always break down the problem into smaller pieces and work my way up using and learning the necessary tools to complete it. For example, by working on one of my favorite projects which is a clone of the famous Airbnb Website, I have learned about routing between pages in React using React-router, Material UI, using NPM packages and Responsive design. I have excellent work ethics and I enjoy solving difficult challenges and learning from them. Creating functional frontend applications is something I am passionate about, which reflects my decision for applying here.

I truly hope to make a solid contribution to a team at your Company, and I look forward to speaking with you in person.

Sincerely,

Mohammed Kabir Hussaini.
